Here's what the plug-in configuration looks like in Directory Access (located in /Applications - Utilities):.. Active Directory Forest: forest company net Active Directory Domain: mydomain forest.. This assumes you have a working AD tree, properly configured DNS, and an account that can add computer objects to AD.

I found this also speeds up authentication in some cases. company net ComputerID: mycomputerYou can make the forest the same as the domain if your users don't need to access resources outside the domain.
